

NATION ACCLAIMS GLOBE CIRDLERS

AS ROUND-WORLD FLYERS NEARED GOAL

Despite the terrific heat a great throng of people gathered at Cleveland airport to greet Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, pilot and navigator of the monoplane Winnie Mae, as they landed in the United States after an eleven-hour flight from Edmonton, Canada, en route to New York to complete their world-girdling trip. Photo shows the plane surrounded by the crowd as it came to earth. The flyers remained at the Cleveland airport only long enough for a drink of water and to fuel the Winnie Mae before starting off on the last lap.

AT END OF EPOCHAL ROUND-WORLD FLIGHT

A mechanic is the first person to greet the round-world flyers, Wiley Post and Harold Gatty in their plane Winnie Mae at Roosevelt Field, N. Y., at the end of its phenomenal flight. Below, crowd in darkening shadows of night, mills around plane as it lands. The intrepid flyers, making the world circuit in nine days, cut eleven days from the previous mark.

HUGE RECEPTION IS STAGED FOR FLYERS WHO CIRCLED EARTH

Post And Gatty Awaken To Blare Of Bands And Homage Due Heroes; Completed Flight In Less Than Nine Full Days

NEW YORK, July 2.—Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, aerial boomerangs, who sprinted around the world in eight days, fifteen hours and fifty-one minutes, today wanted to sleep but fame was knocking on their door.

They had knocked the record for circling the globe into smithereens. The Graf Zeppelin had done it in twenty-two days.

Averaging a flying speed of more than 150 miles an hour, they had made a merry-go-round out of the world astride their flashing plane, the "Winnie Mae."

Around the world like a clock—15,000 miles—ticking from New York to Harbor Grace to Chester, England, Hanover, Germany, Berlin, Moscow, Siberia, Alaska, Edmonton, Cleveland and home again to New York. Over two oceans, jagged mountain ranges, arid deserts, unseen lands and untouched clouds, the cream-colored monoplane streaked to glory under the scientific whip of a one-time Oklahoma farmer for pilot and a lean Australian as navigator. Mercury had only wings on his heels.

"We just got fifteen hours sleep during the flight," said Post. "Now we'll do some serious sleeping."

(Post told a pal confidentially it was only seven hours.)

Serious sleeping. A couple of optimistic heroes!

The buzz that rose to the skies after the world-girdlers shot their plane to earth at Roosevelt Field at 8:47 p. m. grew to a national roar of acclamation as the sun rose today.

To a serenade of bands playing and sirens tooting, the municipal reception committee pried the two flyers out of bed and started them out on the big ride around town.

Even on the short motor trip to the mid-town pier of the Civic Yacht Macon the crowds poured out to see who made the world go round.

Men, women and children yelled themselves red in the face as the motorcade streaked along. It looked like another Lindbergh demonstration in the making—an accurate comparison, for once.

Sweeping down the harbor aboard the Macon, the local command may let go with full steam behind each whistle.

Troops, blaring music, regiments of police, banners and a blizzard of ticker-tape awaited them at the battery where the big parade got underway to City Hall.

To hear those boys talk about their trip you'd think they had only flown across the Hudson River.

"We didn't have much trouble," said Post. "It came out just as we expected."

"It was a little tough crossing the Atlantic and shooting across the Bering Sea to Nome, Alaska. On that leg we had a lot of thick weather and storms and couldn't see where we were going."

"At Khabarovsk, Siberia, we got some bad Russian oil in our motors and it fouled the spark-plugs, that's all."

FRANCE IS ADAMANT

MINISTERS REFUSE TO YIELD POSITION UPON DEBT HOLIDAY

Will Reply Later To Hoover Note On Objections

PARIS, July 2.—The gloomiest of atmospheres prevailed at the Quai D'Orsay today at the conclusion of the special meeting of the council of ministers held to consider President Hoover's memorandum on French objections to his plan for a moratorium on war debts.

The manner of various ministers gave rise to the belief that the cabinet had declined to meet President Hoover's requests.

"The negotiations will be most difficult if the United States maintains the attitude expressed in the memorandum," said one member of the cabinet.

Questioned by correspondents at close of the meeting, Premier Pierre Laval said laconically:

"The council of ministers has examined President Hoover's memorandum."

Beyond that statement he refused to go. From his attitude it was believed that the French government was prepared to hold out for its counter-proposal for a moratorium even at the risk of international isolation.

International News Service was reliably informed that the premier would not hand a written reply to the American negotiators, Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury, and Walter E. Edge, ambassador to France, but would make it orally.

The reply is to be given the Americans at 9:30 tonight (8:30 p. m. Columbus time).

It was believed in official quarters that negotiations would continue. It was indicated that further efforts would be made to convince the United States government that France should not be obliged to yield any further on the question of German reparations.

One observer stated that a means of settling differences between the two governments may come from London, where it was reported that the MacDonald cabinet was considering a means of modifying the Young plan so that France would be relieved of the obligation to pay about $100,000,000 into the bank of international settlements in case of a German moratorium on postwar annuities.

President Hoover flatly refused to take up the question of changing the Young plan in this particular.

BRITAIN ASSUMES ROLE OF MEDIATOR IN DEBT HOLIDAY NEGOTIATIONS

IT'S AN IDEA

NEW YORK, July 2.—Here's a hint on how to spend your vacation. Wiley Post and Harold Gatty started out to fly around the world less than nine days ago. They took $34 with them. And some of the $34 is still with them.

HEAT ASSURES BIG OHIO FARM CROPS

COLUMBUS, O., July 2.—Extreme hot weather of the past ten days has driven Ohio corn upward with an amazing speed that practically assures the state a bumper crop this year. Dr. H. C. Ramsower, director of the Ohio State University Agricultural Extension Service, declared here today.

The hot sun may have distressed farm workers but it has ripened the wheat and enabled farmers to harvest the crop before it had an opportunity to blow down, giving further assurance that this year's bins will be well filled, Dr. Ramsower said.

Although the early varieties of apples were somewhat sun-burned and withered by the blazing heat, and the berry crop was slightly shortened, in general, the exceptional hot weather of the past few days has aided rather than damaged the products of the farm, according to the Ohio State University specialist.

WOMAN ATTACKED, HURLED FROM AUTO

CLEVELAND, July 2.—Mrs. Thelma Durst, 31, today was hurled from a speeding automobile into the street after she had been seriously injured during what police said was a terrific struggle with two men in the machine.

Taken to City Hospital, she was reported suffering from a broken collar bone, possibly internal injuries and bruises about the face and body. Her clothing was badly torn.

Police immediately began a search for the two men. Mrs. Durst was unable to give police any information about her assailants.

CUCKOO GANGSTER KILLED BY GUNMEN

ST. LOUIS, July 2.—Edward Menken, 23, described by police as a cuckoo gangster, racketeer and extortionist, was shot and killed here today by two unidentified gunmen. He was shot five times.

Witnesses to the shooting told police that Menken had been lying on the grass in the Parkway here when two men drove up in an automobile and emptied their pistols at him. A few minutes later that gangster was taken to city hospital and dumped on the steps. Menken died on the operating table.

START BOYCOTT ON CIGARETTES

MARTINS FERRY, O., July 2.—A slight boycott against cigarettes is already in effect in this part of eastern Ohio, retailers declared today.

Dealers recently gave cigarettes prices a little boost. Then the state legislators passed a law to add a couple of cents tax.

While the new tax law has not yet been approved by Governor George White, his okay is regarded as certain and some smokers are beginning to "practice up" with pipe and stories.

Sacrifices Guaranty Fund If France Accepts Plan

LONDON, July 2.—The British government may come to the fore as mediator between the United States and France in the negotiations at Paris concerning the Hoover moratorium proposal, which have resulted in a deadlock, International News Service learned today upon reliable authority.

It was understood the British government submitted to the French cabinet, at its session today, a plan to assure France that the French government would not have to pay into the bank of international settlements the $125,000,000 guaranty fund, provided under the terms of the Young plan, if the Hoover moratorium proposal should go into effect.

This plan, International News Service was informed, has been agreed to by the Italian and United States governments, as well as Great Britain.

The British compromise plan, it was stated on reliable authority, proposes one of two alternatives: either that France be freed by other creditor nations of responsibility for the "unconditional payments" under the terms of the Young plan, in case the Hoover moratorium proposal is put into effect, as proposed in the latest Hoover memorandum to France, or that an international loan be floated to raise the sum required under the guaranty clause of the Young plan.

The proposal contained in the Hoover memorandum that other creditor countries specifically release France from obligations of the "unconditional payments guaranty clause" would involve a change in the Young plan itself, whereas the proposed international loan to provide the guaranty fund would require no such change.

The latter course, it was believed in financial and government circles here, would be the easier of the two to put into effect.

The urgency of the financial situation in Germany was illustrated today by the revelation that the Reichsbank has already lost, through exchange withdrawals, three-quarters of the $100,000,000 credit advanced it last Saturday by the American, British, French banks and the Bank of International Settlements at Basle. This loan, plus the next reparations payments fall due on July 15, and it is believed here that it will be utterly impossible for Germany to meet these huge obligations.

DEDICATE AIRPORT

BUOYRUS, O., July 2.—Port Bucyrus, this city's new sixty-four acre airport located in the heart of hundreds of acres of open country, will be formally dedicated July 19, according to the plans today of Miss Lauretta Schimmeler, manager of the port.

RACING TO START

AGUA CALIENTE, Mexico, July 2.—More than 600 horses were here today awaiting the opening of the fifty-seven day summer race meet July 4.

BANK CALL ISSUED

COLUMBUS, O., July 2.—A state bank call as of June 30 to "day" was issued by State Superintendent of Banks Ira J. Fulton.

CINCINNATI NIGHT CLUB MAY CLOSE

CINCINNATI, O., July 2.—Two of Cincinnati's largest night clubs—Castle Farm and Fuller's Gardens—were threatened with being padlocked today as the result of injunction suits started against them by U. S. District Attorney Harvey E. Mau. Mau charged they are "common nuisances," openly violating the prohibition law.

WITNESS ON STAND

YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 2.—Resuming his testimony as the star witness for the defense, John T. Harrington, millionaire director of the Ohio Edison Co., today began his second day on the witness stand as the trial of Prosecutor Ray L. Thomas on blackmail charges entered its third week.

WELL, NO WONDER!

ZANESVILLE, O., July 2.—While thermometers here registered 98 in the shade, one thermometer in the downtown district which had been for gotten in the sun ran to 120 degrees and then burst the tube.

Xenians Perspire As Heat Wave Still Thrives But Maybe Chicago Is Worse

Weatherman Ernest L. Harner at 1:30 p. m. Unless forecasters are only fooling again, showers will descend upon the city Thursday night—perhaps.

CHICAGO, July 2.—Effects of the heat and remedies covered a wide range.

Asked for a remedy, one Chicagoan said "moving pictures, by all means. I've seen three today and am on my way to another. Who is this weather man?"

Another swore by electric refrigeration. As fast as the ice cubes were manufactured he threw them in a bath tub and hopped in. Among the effects was an order by Mayor Anton J. Cermak to keep the municipal pier, a cool place if there ever is one, open all night.

This followed his election by a guard at midnight.

On the eighth day of the abnormal heat, Chicago's policemen were allowed to remove their coats.

A downtown broker won a bet by frying eggs on the sidewalk but he used a magnifying glass to intensify the sun's rays.

By the unweated appearance of a car, dragged his ice wagon down the street and ripped off fenders from three autos.

ARREST TWO SUSPECTS IN PROBE OF SHOOTING OF POLICEMAN

NEWARK, O., July 2.—A comparison of finger prints today was expected to settle an argument between Newark and Ironton officials over the identity of two Chillicothe men arrested yesterday after a pistol and two empty shells were found in their car.

Although the men gave their names as William Murphy, 22, and John Dean, 23, police believe they may be the pair who seriously wounded Patrolman Harry Beasley while trying to rob a safe here Tuesday night.

Ironton officials, however, believed the men were a couple wanted at Ironton for taking the proceeds of a $40 check which a filling station operator sent them to cash Monday. Ironton authorities said they believed their real names was Maurice Deer and Paul Murphy.

A comparison of finger prints of the two men with prints found on the safe was expected to settle the dispute.

The two suspects denied being in Newark on Tuesday night and declared they were in Columbus at the time.

NOTORIOUS RIPPER IS GUILLOTINED

COLOGNE, Germany, July 2.—Peter Kuerten, the notorious "Duseldorfer ripper" murderer, died on the guillotine in the jail yard of the Cologne prison here today in expiation of his crimes.

About a score of murders, many of them children, were charged against Kuerten, and he confessed to most of them.

Kuerten spent his last hours writing letters to the families of his victims, asking their pardon for his crimes and the sufferings he had caused them.

RELINQUISH LIFE TO SAVE MONEY

GALESBURG, Ill., July 2.—Although he had $1,000 in his pockets and $13,400 in a loan association, John Smith, 65, died of heat prostration in a $2 a week room the temperature of which registered 106 degrees. He had not purchased either ice or fan to help him endure the weather.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 2.—Hospital officials took $17,000 in cash and collateral from the worn and soiled clothes of a man who collapsed from the heat here. Names on papers led them to think he was Herman Fraile. He had a deposit certificate on a Napoleon, Ohio bank for $15,700.

KEARNS OUT ON BOND

CHICAGO, July 2.—Jack Kearns, flight manager, was on $7,500 bond today for failure to pay $5,000 allegedly due his wife, Mrs. Legana Kearns.

WEATHER BLAMED FOR LOST SUIT

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., July 2.—The weather provided two of the twenty-three grounds for a new trial asked today in Belmont County court by William H. Newlin, farmer, in his suit against the state highway department because of land taken and damages done in relocating the national road east of here.

Among the grounds claimed for a new trial were:

"On account of the extreme and sweltering heat, the jury was reduced to such physical condition that they were incapacitated and unable to understand, comprehend, weigh and marshal the evidence."

"The jury was more interested in getting home than in deciding the case upon the evidence and the law."

The motion for a new trial also charged that the jury's "passion and interest in good roads led them to ignore the evidence."

WITNESS ON STAND

YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 2.—Resuming his testimony as the star witness for the defense, John T. Harrington, millionaire director of the Ohio Edison Co., today began his second day on the witness stand as the trial of Prosecutor Ray L. Thomas on blackmail charges entered its third week.

lar since the United States was not a signatory to that plan.

The guaranty fund of about $100,000,000 which France fears she may have to make good is provided in Annex 8 of the Young plan. She agreed to it at The Hague, where the Young plan was formulated, because she was to get the bulk of the unconditional annuities as well as a large slice of the conditional annuities.

The conditional annuities were those which Germany was entitled under the Young plan to postpone by declaring a one or two-year moratorium. In the event of such a moratorium, France agreed to pay the guaranty fund into the bank of international settlements, where it would be distributed among all the war creditors of Germany, France included. If she did not do so, France during the moratorium stood to receive practically all the reparations payments and the other creditors practically nothing.

President Hoover originally suggested that his moratorium include both conditional and unconditional reparations. France countered with the proposal that Germany must abide by the Young plan but that she was willing to relent to Germany her unconditional annuities except what was due in payments in kind, that is in manufactured goods and raw materials and what might be lent to other central European countries.

play golf were made alternately by the captains.

Murphy's team is composed of J. E. Barlow, Robert Shoup, S. M. McKay, Donald Currie, Steele Poague, H. L. Sayre, E. H. Heathman, W. C. Downs, C. B. Lawson, E. D. Martin, Dr. H. B. McElree, L. C. held us up, otherwise we would have been here much sooner.

"How was the scenery? I didn't look. It was all just like flying over Oklahoma."

A lone blue-white plane with history written all over it streaked out of the west as a pink and purple sky was beginning to turn into black night.

The Winnie Mae banked twice around the field as 15,000 persons yelled and vibrated.

The round-the-world plane had barely finished a perfect landing when the riot was on.

NOT LATE IN 12 YEARS

JACKSON, Mich. — Found—the school girl with a perfect attendance record for 12 long years. When Naida Reynolds was graduated from high school here, it was revealed that the girl had not been tardy nor absent since she enrolled in the kindergarten.

OVERLOAD OF HORSES

NEW BRITAIN, Conn., July 2.—Orlando Thomas, of Hartford, paid twenty-five dollars and costs for overloading his truck, contrary to the state laws. He had a load of 12,750 pounds. The load was made up of horses—wooden horses, in fact, belonging to a merry-go-round.

CRUSADER IN CELL

Rev. Philip Yarrow (upper photo), Chicago minister and superintendent of the Illinois Vigilance Association, was arrested and placed in jail in Chicago for failure to pay a $5,000 judgment against him for causing the arrest of Walter Shaver (lower photo), Chicago book dealer. The Rev. Yarrow had caused the arrest of Shaver for selling a copy of "A Night in a Moorish Harem." Shaver retaliated by suing the minister, charging malicious prosecution and entrapment. The damage suit resulted in the award of $5,000 to Shaver by a jury.

WHERE IT'S 12 BELOW IN CHICAGO

Don't you envy these girls? They're employed in the office of a cold storage warehouse in Chicago. When the thermometer is flirting with the 100 mark, all they have to do is slip down into the storage rooms where it's 12 degrees below zero.

CHAUTAUQUA OPENS THURSDAY WITH MAGICIAN AS FEATURE

Xenia's annual Redpath Chautauqua program opened Thursday afternoon and a good-sized audience greeted Reno, the Magician, as he thrilled the kiddies as well as the older folks with his tricks of magic.

Thursday night at 8 o'clock the curtain will rise on the first play of the week's entertainment, "Broken Dishes," a comedy drama in three acts. The play enjoyed a successful run in New York and will be presented here by a competent cast of actors.

Friday afternoon the Brown-Ball Co. will give a prelude to the lecture, "Gangs and Gangland," delivered by C. Ray Hansen, former assistant prosecutor of Cook County in Chicago.

One of the special features of the week, will be Junior Town held every morning at 9:30 for all the children. This program will be under the capable supervision of a Junior supervisor, and a rare treat is in store for all the kiddies who attend.

FINAL CHANCE TO SEE APARTMENT

The public will have a final opportunity Thursday night to visit and inspect the newest model apartment house being opened by P. H. Flynn at 119 N. Detroit St., this week. Many Xenians inspected the modern four-apartment building, formerly the home of the late Miss Belle Gatch, Wednesday afternoon and evening, and announcement is made visitors are welcome until 10 o'clock Thursday night.

CURE-ALL BUDGET

PHILADELPHIA, July 2.—The American public will spend $200,000,000 for patent medicines in 1931, despite the business depression, predicts Dr. Arthur M. Cramp, director of the bureau of investigation of the American Medical Association. Out of every dollar spent for patent medicines the maker expends sixty cents to further convince the public there is something wrong with them, declared Dr. Cramp, and the public is being convinced.

PAST PRESIDENT OF LEGION AUXILIARY TO BE ENTERTAINED

Mrs. Adalyn Wright Macauley, past national president of the American Legion Auxiliary, who will speak on Saturday afternoon's program of the Redpath Chautauqua, will be guest over the week end of Capt. and Mrs. Harold L. Hays, of the O. S. and S. O. Home.

A banquet honoring Mrs. Macauley will be held at the Home Saturday evening and will be open for members of Joseph P. Foody Post, American Legion, and the women's auxiliary. Since there will be accommodations for only fifty at the banquet all reservations are to be made not later than Thursday evening with Mrs. O. H. Cornwell or Mrs. Hazel Toms, president of the local Legion auxiliary.

The banquet will be served in the Home dining room at 6 p. m. and an informal social time will follow. Guests will also view the display of fireworks at the Home later in the evening.

Mrs. Macauley, the only American woman who has been president of the Fidac Auxiliary, an international allied organization, is said to be a speaker of unusual grace and personality and her address Saturday afternoon is said to be one of the outstanding highlights on this year's Chautauqua program.

EDMUND LITTELL IS STORY WRITER

"Two Against the World" is the subject of an entertaining short story in the July issue of the American Magazine, by Edmund M. Littell, New York City. Mr. Littell is well known here and has often visited in this city at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Mary M. Meredith, N. King St.

The story centers around "Jack Campbell" with its setting in the steel mines and is written in an interesting manner.

BEGINS PEN TERM

PARK DEVELOPMENT BEING ANNOUNCED

Plans for developing the site into picnic grounds also offering the privileges of free camping to tourists are being announced by George Zeigler, Dayton, who has leased a filling station and two surrounding acres of land owned by D. Eldon Bailey, Jamestown, situated half a mile south of Jamestown at the junction of state route 11 and the Jeffersonville Pike.

Mr. Zeigler, an oriental rug merchant, has tentatively decided upon the name "Triangle Park" for the proposed tourist camp because the location forms a triangle. A profusion of tall shade trees makes the site ideal for camping purposes and as a picnic grounds. Tables, chairs and other facilities for this purpose will be provided, he announces.

SPRING VALLEY

On Thursday, June 25, a group of children had a surprise picnic and swimming party at Gladys for Ivan Holton on his twelfth birthday. They were chaperoned by Mrs. Hazel Holton and Mrs. Esta Hamer. Those enjoying the affair were Mrs. Ivan Holton, Janice Smith, Robert Kyne, Anna Kyne, Marguerite Woods, Eugene Haines, Jimmie Haines, Russell Haines, Doris Lattrell, Dorothy Chaney, Anna Underwood, Lee Ed Hamer, Marguerite Stiles, Laura Stiles, Eugene Stiles, Lucile Walton, Sarah Alice Smith and Helen Marie Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Aultman and baby daughter of Xenia, Miss Hazel Hartsock of Springfield Valley and Mr. Morris Sherwood of Waynesville, left last Tuesday on a motor trip to Canada, Niagara Falls and Buffalo, N. Y. Miss Hartsock and Mr. Sherwood returned home Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Aultman are remaining in Buffalo for six weeks.

Miss Laura Copey of Dayton, spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arch Copey.

Mr. Earl Copey who underwent an operation at Miami Valley Hospital, Dayton, last Thursday is doing nicely and expects to be removed to his home by the last of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kretzler were the guests of relatives in Centerville Sunday.

While wrestling with a friend, Mr. Ernest Reeves had a ligament torn loose in his knee. It will be some time before he will be able to walk without the aid of crutches.

Mrs. Mary Ennis, who has been visiting relatives here for the past week, returned to her home in Virginia Saturday.

Mrs. Will Bootes and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bootes and baby were guests Sunday evening of Mr. and Mrs. George Benson and family.

Only the prompt action of Mr. Clyde Moon saved Mrs. Mary Vetter from being killed by the fast express from Cincinnati Saturday evening.

Little Roseanna Wakely is spending a week in Dayton with relatives.

Mrs. Sarah Funderburg who had been spending a week with relatives in Dayton returned home Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bonhaus and daughters Evelyn and Juanita visited Serpent Mound, Adams County Sunday.

While Mr. and Mrs. Carl Thomas were motoring toward Springfield Sunday, their car skidded into a ditch throwing the occupants out. They were brought to Dr. Vandeman's office who rendered first aid. They were then taken to their home in Xenia.

The 4-H Club picnicked in the Elam's woods Thursday afternoon.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Hath not the potter over the clay, of the same lump to make one vessel unto honour, and another unto dishonour?—Romans, ix, 21.

NEW PARTIES

The plethora of new political "parties" clamoring for publicity in different parts of the country today is symptomatic of the times. Some of these groups are merely working a racket. Others represent honest divergence of opinion from the tenets of the two old parties. All of them reflect the unsettled state of the public mind.

The two-party system is not perfect, although it has worked out in Great Britain and the United States better than the multi-party system has in some other countries. Something higher than human ingenuity would be required to construct two political parties whose creeds would completely satisfy every elector in as populous a country as this. All shades and degrees of opinion are to be found in the two great political parties, all the way from the radicalism of the left-wing Democrats to the Toryism of the right-wing Republicans. When the country is prosperous no one gives that a thought. When things are not going so well, a demand is heard for new remedies; all sorts of panaceas are proposed, with someone always ready to try anything once. A flock of factions is the result.

Washington deplored partisanship; but even before the end of his administration the country had divided into two political camps. The Federalists espoused the views of Alexander Hamilton. The Anti-Federalists followed Jefferson. Along that line the nation has continued to split at election time. Any number of offshoots from the two outstanding parties have sprouted in our history only to wither because of inadequate leadership or because their appeal was too local or too erratic. The new "parties" springing up today seem destined to no more promising an end.

HOW SEE IT?

The Massachusetts billboard law defense committee still rallies its forces in support of the test case for restriction of billboard advertising now before the supreme court of that state. Some signboards have been judged illegal in California and have accordingly been torn down. From Long Island the chairman of the billboards and roadside committee of the Garden Club of America has urged the members to pledge themselves not to purchase goods advertised on billboards.

Whether these instances of progress in the long war between the billposting interests and those who would preserve the natural beauty of the countryside have had much effect, will be the vacationist's opportunity to observe. He is urged to travel, to "see America first." Yet as he drives mile after mile past obscuring signs set cleverly wherever an arresting bit of beauty might otherwise catch the eye, he wonders how it can be physically possible to see what he has come out to find. Thousands of dollars have been spent to advertise the scenic playgrounds of the United States, only to have the result of many more thousands of advertising dollars ironically nullify the travel advertising.

When a decision is finally handed down in the Massachusetts case, a powerful weapon may be delivered into the hands of the beauty lovers. Until that time every land-owner should take upon himself the responsibility of keeping his property, in town or out, free from detaching signs and from unsightly roadside markets.

LITERATURE TO SUFFER

After a half century in the book publishing business which he founded, and of which he is still the head, Frederick A. Stokes has said that American literature is likely to suffer from the policy of extreme conservatism which publishers have adopted. Mr. Stokes believes that this course will discourage unknown writers and prevent many volumes of literary and artistic merit from reaching the public.

Assuredly it is difficult for the unknown writer to be reconciled to the present situation, which Mr. Stokes has faced so frankly. Every day he sees advertised for sale books no better than those he has written. He does not understand how these volumes could promise any great financial return. Yet he is told that this is the standard upon which acceptance of a manuscript is generally based.

He will be further discouraged to learn from Mr. Stokes that only 10,127 books were published last year, compared to 13,410 in 1910. He has a right to ask what has become of the reading public in an age when literacy is steadily increasing.

While publishers, like everyone else, must live, and while they may have good reasons for the policy which they now follow, it would seem that their responsibility for the direction and salvation of American literature is clear. As critics and judges of literature, they must realize that some of their number have flooded the market with trashy, cheap novels pandering to neurotic taste. Are they not in a position to raise the standard of the public choice of reading matter and to bring out vigorous new talent?

If the light of the almighty dollar blinds their eyes to merit, how can they regard their business as anything more distinguished than a good "racket"?

THEY NEED VACATIONS

A contributor to another column in The Free Press recently warned husbands to see that their wives took vacations—"and, if possible, alone." Some husbands do that. Others crimson with rage at the first suggestion that their wives need occasional change and rest, a respite from the humdrumness of housekeeping, a chance to get away by themselves and rekindle the untraveled threads of their nervous systems.

Women in business are understood to need vacations. They get them. The woman who devotes herself to making a home for a husband is too often shown less consideration. As our contributor wrote:

Yet no other human being works as hard as she does. No other labor is as monotonous as hers. She literally goes round and round in a treadmill in which she is forever cooking meals that are eaten and then cooking other meals that are eaten, and so on ad infinitum.

The husband leaves the house in the morning and mingles with the world, with its ever varying contacts. The wife finds her horizon, day and night, within the same four walls. When domesticity palls on the husband he can go off fishing with the boys. When it palls on the wife she is called neurotic and told to get over it.

Woman's place is in the home. Why shouldn't she stay there three hundred and sixty-five days in the year? She hasn't any nerves to be unstrung. Only business men are supposed to become tired. Women engaged in the important business of home-making are made of cast iron. The fact that not more of them go insane proves it.

After the new high temperature mark of recent date we now put it like this: "What is so well-done as a day in June?"

The next thing Europe will have to be convinced of is that a moratorium does not mean cancellation.

MY NEW YORK

—BY JAMES ASWELL

NEW YORK — From a tenth floor fire balcony:

I can see Second Avenue "Eis" crawling, with faraway clamor, toward Harlem and Queens and downtown toward South Ferry. I can see tenement courts fluttering with washing. I can see a stout woman at a window, mournfully combing gray hair. And I can see the "pigeon racketeers," kindergarten class of gangsters.

Not a tenement block in town lacks its quota of roof-top pigeon fanciers. Certainly an innocent diversion for stuffy lives. Sometimes. Observe the odd goings on atop that drab building to the left.

A 16-year-old, in striped silk shirt, squints up at the sky. He has a hard young face and indoor eyes. He holds a pigeon in his hand, which he will release the instant a flight or stray wheels upon the horizon. His bird is a decoy—trained to lure other people's pigeons down for trapping.

Birds thus kidnapped are examined for identification bands and ransomed back to the legitimate owners for whatever they will bring. This charming little racket, industriously plied, nets gin and cigarette money. Single birds bring from a dime to a dollar. Groups of embryonic gangsters appropriate each other's pigeons and conduct lengthy and sometimes bloody ransom negotiations.

The cradle game of the mob!

MONOLOGUE

Is there a new way to write a column? . . . Maybe, but the staccato rhythm of streets and faces cries for jots and dots, flashes and dashes . . .

Jots and dots every day . . . Like this . . . People seen: Commissioner Mulrooney, very grizzled, very Irish, autographing a menu at a stag banquet . . . The twenty-eighth, he said, of the evening . . . And unwittingly affixing his bold scrawl over the Arabic phrase for the "Sultan's hot babies"—it being a pseudo-Arabic feast, with menu in the language . . . translated, of course, or I wouldn't know.

Reflection that Mulrooney is a very efficient police chief, despite recent press knocks and rumpuses. . . . He has solved every important murder mystery since he came into office . . . Can you think of anything occurring in his term which he hasn't pried open?

MANHATTAN ACQUAINTANCE

I've known Norman Anthony, ex-editor of Life and editor of the un-hatched Ballyhoo, advertisingless humor mag, for a year or two. We've been on parties together. He lives in the same building I do. He's read my short stories and we've harangued each other copiously on this and that. When I was commissioned to afflict you daily, he wrote me:

"Dear Jim: Don't tell me that you, a native born New Yorker, are going to do a New York column! I thought only the boys from Gallopis and Dubuque wrote such things."

I was born in Baton Rouge, Louisiana, of an accent is as Southern as potliker. But that's acquaintance for you in New York. It has much to recommend it, too. People, asking no questions of each other, are content to let origins scramble themselves and go hazy. Impressions are sharp, backgrounds blank. It's a good way.

GOVERNMENT HEADS SWELTER WITH HOOVER IN WASHINGTON HEAT

—CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON — By the end of June in all ordinary summers before Mr. Hoover's day in the White House not a presidentially appointed official above the rank of second assistant secretary was to be found in Washington.

In war time, to be sure, vacation schedules were somewhat broken in upon.

Yet even then higher functionaries of the government did not deem it judicious to allow themselves to become too completely fagged by the capital's hot weather. They realized that they needed a certain amount of relaxation to keep themselves fit for the better encouragement of Uncle Sam's forces' activities overseas.

As previously intimated, however, the whole system is changed with Mr. Hoover on the job.

It would look a trifle peculiar for all the cabinet members to be playing golf in the highlands or sloshing about in the surf on the sea coast somewhere, while the "old man" (which is not meant disrespectfully) the president always is spoken of by those immediately about him as the "old man," just as the captain of a ship always is so designated, slogged away at his desk as usual.

It is true that Secretaries of State and the Treasury Stimson and Mellon are getting trips to Europe this year, but anyone who imagines them loitering around there at their ease surely never can have tried to frame up an international war debt and reparations moratorium.

As for Secretaries Hurley, Adams

WHAT WATER EVAPORATION IS

By Arthur DeV. Carpenter

Water evaporation is the change from the liquid to the gaseous state, of the molecules composing water. A water molecule is made up of two elements—hydrogen and oxygen—two atoms of the former and one of the latter. When water evaporation takes place, the molecules are converted from a liquid state into an invisible gaseous state. There is a power of adhesion (attraction) between these water molecules, so when evaporation sets in that power of adhesion is broken for some of the molecules and they escape into the atmosphere as an invisible gas. But there is an outlay of energy involved in the separating of water molecules that is known as latent heat.

Who's Who and Timely Views

By ALBERT C. RITCHIE

Governor of Maryland (Albert Cabell Ritchie was born at Richmond, Va., Aug. 29, 1876. He is a graduate of John Hopkins and the University of Maryland, holding several honorary degrees. He began practicing law at Baltimore in 1898. From 1907 to 1920 he was professor of law at the University of Maryland. From 1916 to 1920 he was attorney general of Maryland. He has been governor of Maryland since 1920. He was delegate-at-large to the Democratic national convention in 1916, 1920, 1924 and 1928. He is the author of a book on municipal affairs.)

Stabilization of the economic system by a higher order of self-government and industrial statesmanship to eliminate unemployment and the recurrence of depressions is the great problem confronting the American people.

The United States and the entire world are on the verge of stupendous changes, in which new concept of human relationships are to be created and from which new standards are to be evolved.

Because of this lack of leadership in the country, particularly the failure of the national administration to lead the country in international affairs, is evident.

Unless American business finds the remedy for unemployment, government will seek the remedy and find it.

The old individualistic order is perpetual.

The remedy for the social and economic problems confronting the world is not to scrap with the present order of things, as Communism and Socialism would do, but rather to examine the fundamentals of our institutions, change what has become outworn and inadequate, but preserve what has stood the test of experience and the test of time.

With from five to eight million men and women needing work and unable to find it, the thing the American people want to know is how to get a job and how to keep it.

Wilbur, Hyde, Lamont and Doak, Attorney General Mitchell and Postmaster General Brown—all the vacations any of this octet is getting consist of an occasional assignment to one or another of them to make a few speeches out in the sticks, and folk who think that THAT is restful are mistaken about speech making, too. It may be fun at first, but it palls.

The fact is, the small fry of officialdom are better off than the more exalted personages under the Hoover regime. The powers still get their regularly prescribed annual leaves of absence. For the grand moguls none are prescribed. They used to be taken away, but not now.

President Coolidge (to go no farther back than his administration) wanted a long vacation of his own every summer, as will be recalled. While he was away there was nothing to hold the members of his cabinet family at their respective desks. It can hardly have escaped attention that President Hoover has not left Pennsylvania avenue for long since his inauguration. It was expected year before last and last year and again this year that he would do so, but these expectations never have been fulfilled.

The diplomatic corps as well as the cabinet is kept tied in Washington by Mr. Hoover's stay-at-home policy.

Before his time not an ambassador or minister stayed in town after the middle of June or returned earlier than the middle of September. Some of them had regular summer embassies or legations, on the seashore mostly, and did not keep their establishments here open at all. Now, regardless of the temperature, they stick in the capital. They have to; if they get word from abroad to learn what the president has to say about so-and-so they are not in a position to answer that the business will have to wait because the president is in the Black Hills or rusticated in Vermont.

It doubtless will have been noticed that there was no scurrying of the foreign representatives back to the city when Mr. Hoover proposed a European moratorium. They were right at hand.

The truth seems to be that the present White House tenant is an easy way from his work. - His week-end stays at the headwaters of the Rapidan apparently are as long as he cares to be out of personal touch with what is going on.

in a literal sense, in the executive offices.

Things evidently occur to him, while away, that he wants to get to cool—and seemingly he can settle down to them more effectively in the midst of familiar surroundings.

It is odd that such a complex should be so much more pronounced in the widely-traveled Herbert Hoover than in the intensely domestic Calvin Coolidge, but it is hard to explain the difference upon any other ground.

MENU HINT

Cottage Cheese Salad
Scalloped Potatoes
Rolls
Strawberry Shortcake
Iced Tea

Build your luncheon or supper menu around a salad, preferably a hearty one of cheese and fish. If you use two or more vegetables in this salad you don't need to serve any more, besides the potatoes.

Today's Recipes
Cottage Cheese Salad—Softened two cups of cottage cheese with sweet cream. Season with salt and pepper. Add one tablespoon of gelatin softened in four tablespoons of cold water for five minutes, then dissolved over hot water. Mix all thoroughly. Put in ring mold and chill.

Any combination of fruit or two vegetables can be used in center. Tomatoes and cucumber cubes marinated in French dressing is delicious.

Interesting Experiment Described

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

An interesting experiment has been carried on for several years at Ore Lake, near Detroit—a summer camp for diabetic children.

Diabetes is a much more severe disease in children than in older people. Its successful treatment requires careful medical supervision and strict dietary control. The life-prolonging qualities of insulin are more evident in children than any other group of diabetics.

Obviously children being less responsible, these diabetic children need to be watched very carefully. They are cut off from the pleasures of going to a summer camp with other children. It would be dangerous to allow a diabetic child to partake of the general diet at a summer camp and under take the activities of other children without having a doctor's watchful eye upon them.

With this idea the camp in Michigan was organized. There are three kinds of special supervision not found in other camps. First, a physician and nurse are on duty—in fact, one physician and two nurses for about every 25 patients. Then a special dietitian. And thirdly, special recreation supervisors.

The cafeteria style of serving food is used. The food is weighed for each little patient and individualization in diets is possible by the use of trained dietetic helpers. Three groups of children, getting three general classes of diet, are fed at separate tables.

Many arrangements have to be set up in such a camp. A laboratory is equipped. An emergency treatment room prepared to give treatment for coma and other accidents is made ready. The recreation workers carry dextrose wafers around with them all the time to treat the condition of low blood sugar (hypoglycemia) which so frequently arises when insulin is given. Insulin is administered to the patients in constantly varying doses to meet their changing needs. The benefits from such an organization are many. First, the child gets a vacation from home and the parents get a vacation also. A diabetic child must be watched and it is inevitable that such watching may turn on the nerves both of the child and its home guardians.

The psychological effect on the child of seeing all its companions in the same predicament as itself is splendid. The installation of proper knowledge of dieting and exercise and insulin administration can be carried out better in a large group than individually. An "S. T. Y. D. club" (Stick To Your Diet club) is formed and the members are taught and helped to earn enough money to pay their way through camp the next year. Thus the ideals and methods of treatment learned in camp are carried over through the year.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS

S. S.: "A friend of mine and myself have an argument we would like to have you decide for us. I stated to him that perverts or degenerates were caused by a condition of the blood cells that could be cured by glandular extracts. His contention is that its cause is purely hereditary."

Answer: Perverts and degenerates, using that term in the common acceptance, have no abnormal condition of the blood cells and are, in most instances, uninfluenced by glandular treatment. The condition often occurs in individuals with a bad hereditary history, but environment also plays a part in the development of many cases.

Nosey Gossip Problem To Neighbor

—By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

How is one to maintain diplomatic relations with a nosey, gossip neighbor who is either under familiar or, if one objects to this, gets mad and won't speak at all?

This is problem of a woman, who writes:

"Dear Virginia Lee: It is always a good idea to try to keep on friendly terms with these old women who know more about the other person's business than they know themselves. Don't you think so?"

"But how? I was always taught to be kind and gentle with the aged, get up and give them my chair, or do other little kindnesses. This 'old woman' is a modern, or tries to be. She is past 60 and is a relative of my husband's. Now I would like to be, and have tried to be, friends with her, but the minute we even get on friendly speaking terms she runs me to death every night and every night. She will sneak up the steps and be standing some place looking at you when you don't even know she is around. She wants to hear what's being said. We have a second floor apartment, and my husband and I have told her to make some kind of a noise so we would know she is about. This she refuses to do. After four months straight along I got tired of it and kept on reading the

SPORT SNAP SHOTS

FRAMED
by Phil

Schramm's Jewelers of Wilmington, booked to appear at Washington Park Sunday afternoon for a game with the Xenia Merchants, had a five-game winning streak snapped last Sunday when they were defeated at Greenfield, 10 to 4. Bob Carey, ace of the Wilmington nine's pitching staff, was hit more freely than at any previous time this season, but should return to form against the Merchants here Sunday.

"Lupino" Lane, the Central High School left fielder with the collapsible legs, could probably get a job substituting for Leon Errol.

Lane, by the way, batting from the portside of the plate, bounced a home run over the right field fence in the fourth inning of Central's softball game with the All-Stars Tuesday night. This was the first time this feat has been accomplished this season. The ball, hit high in the air, landed close to the barrier and cleared it on the first bounce.

What is the difference between a ball which bounces over the fence at Cox Field and a ball which rolls under or through it?

The difference, opines "Bunny" Purdom, is "one base."

Batters who knock a ball under the fence are entitled to only three bases, but if the ball clears the fence on the fly or bounces over, it is a legitimate home run. Then are the rules.

For the first time within the memory of the oldest inhabitant, "Brownie" Baldwin, third baseman de luxe, watched the game from the side lines while his team played Tuesday night. "Brownie" did not play third for the All-Stars against Central High, Moll being shifted to third. Things are coming to a pretty pass when "Brownie" takes a vacation from his duties at the hot corner of the diamond.

They say that Pete Fisher is perfectly willing to go through with a contemplated softball game between the Butchers and a team hand-picked from among local fans, but that he makes one proviso. Pete agrees to play a center field position for the Butchers on condition that none of the opposing batters knock fly balls in his direction, and also providing he is furnished with transportation out to his position and back to the bench again when each half inning is completed.

"Boxie" claims to have measured the new, lighter type of softball used in the two leagues here for the first time this week, and to have discovered that it is no smaller, but is exactly the same size as the balls formerly used this season. Well, maybe so.

Ball Yard Banter

The American league hasn't had a fellow like Ben Chapman of the Yankees around since Ty Cobb and George Sisler were in their prime. And that's getting to be quite some time. Chappie, you should know, is becoming the best base thief in the big leagues.

Chapman has really restored this lost art to the Yankee stadium this season—and the fans are making a hero of him, as result.

The speed with which Chapman is collecting stolen bases suggests that the young Yankee may steal fifty bags before the season ends. It has been a number of years since that figure has been attained by any big league ball player.

Ty Cobb was, of course, the greatest base stealer of modern baseball. He led the big leagues for six years in this specialty.

Chapman is a natural base stealer. He has a world of speed, breaks fast, has a long step and is a good slider, hitting the bag when he dives for it. He also seems to have that sixth sense which makes him start in the right instant.

Chappie has stolen second and then third in the same inning several times this year. He has also stolen as high as three bases in one game.

Whether or not Chappie tops fifty this year, he seems certain to win the big league stealing "title" for the American league. If he does it will be the first time since 1920 that the American league has had undisputed claim to that championship. In 1922 George Sisler was tied by Carey with fifty-one each and in 1926 Johnny Mostil tied with Kiki Cuyler with thirty-five. In 1921, 1923, 1924, 1925, 1927, 1928, 1929 and 1930 a National league man has proven the fastest man on the paths.

Homer Helps Paints Defeat Red Wings 5-3

BOLSER SMACKS FOR CIRCUIT; THREE ON HASSOCKS AT TIME

Winners Elevated To Fourth Place In Loop Standing

Bolser, formerly of Wilmington, now the acrobatic catcher for the Graham Paints, personally supervised the task Wednesday night of lifting the Paints from fifth to fourth place in the National League softball standing.

Pinning one of "Pino" Perrine's pitches to his liking in the fifth inning of a game with the Red Wings at Cox Field, Bolser plastered a home run with three passengers aboard.

Eventually, the Paints won the game, 5 to 3, thus making partial amends for a double spanking inflicted by the Red Wings earlier this season.

The triumph, the second straight for the rejuvenated Paints, elevated this team to fourth place and dropped Wood's Barbers to fifth position.

A double by Muterspaw, followed by fly balls to the outfield, gave Graham's first run in the third. In the fifth stanza, with one down, Havestick singled and Muterspaw walked. Haller forced Havestick at third, but Willie Cope also drew a base on balls, clogging the sacks. This, then, was the setting when Bolser came to bat, and he delivered in the pinch with a lordly swat which cleared the bases.

Scoring one run in each of the third, fourth and fifth innings, the Red Wings tallied first on Perrine's double, an out at first and an error, registered another on Yeakley's two-bagger and outs at first, and a third on Perrine's second double and an error.

Lloyd Downey, pitching for the Paints, was hit safely in every inning, but, as some of the boys are wont to say, was just too juicy for the opposition in the pinches. Perrine permitted only eight hits but the one run in which he lost control, passed two batters and then tossed a home run ball to Bolser was fatal to the Red Wing chances.

Battling honors for the contest went to the rival pitchers. Perrine, in four times up, hit a single and two doubles, while Downey, collecting two singles was the only Graham player to hit safely more than once. Bolser's homer, of course, was by far the most important blow of the game.

St. Brigid, conqueror of Central High in a double-header last week, will strive to down Krippendorf in an American League contest Thursday night. Lineups:

DAIRY JUDGING AT FARM ON FRIDAY

The second of the series of dairy judging schools will be held at the Alexander and Trout Dairy Farm, Spring Valley, Friday, where a herd of high class Jerseys will be studied. J. D. Hevey of Westerville, prominent agriculturist and dairyman, will lead the discussion.

This series of schools is being sponsored by the Greene County 4-H Dairy Club under direction of County Agent E. A. Drake. The meetings however, are open to all and the general public is urged to attend.

Three of these schools have been scheduled at which the Holstein, Jersey and Guernsey breeds will be studied. At the Greene County Fair on the third day of county wide judging contest and school open to all will be held, which will be one of the results of this series of schools. All interested dairymen will have an opportunity to enter this contest.

GARDEN CLUB MEETS
Eleven members answered roll call with a garden hint or name of flower at the fourth meeting of the Sunshine Garden Club of Cedarville. Scrapbooks were started and a prize is to be offered for the best scrapbook made on annual flowers (alphabetically arranged with hints on their cultivation). The books are to be attractive as well as helpful.

A discussion on member's gardens was held and many reported their annual flowers starting to bloom. After the business meeting members went to their leader's flower garden and learned the correct method of transplanting plants.

SHOWERS TO BRING RELIEF FROM HEAT TO STRICKEN OHIO

By International News Service
Thundershowers followed by cooler weather are in sight for sun-baked Ohio, which within the last twenty-four hours has counted fourteen deaths from heat and scores of prostrations. U. S. Government weather observers predicted today.

Storm clouds gathering in the skies today should shower the state tonight and clear the atmosphere of the muggy "sticky" air that has borne down with maddening pressure.

In some sections of the state today, record-breaking temperatures were being registered. Several cities reported that the weather was so insufferably hot that industry was forced to suspend operations partially.

Temperatures in Columbus today were expected to climb to between 95 and 98 degrees. Weatherman Alexander said they might possibly pass the July 2 record of 98 set in 1895. Yesterday the mercury in Columbus was forced to 95. Defiance reported one of the highest temperatures in the state yesterday. Mercury there reached 107.5 degrees. It was the hottest July 1 recorded in a decade.

Near Bellevue the intense rays of the sun caused rails to expand and buckle on the Nickel-Plate railroad. A passenger train was delayed by the sun-warped rails.

Deaths in the state included three at Cleveland; two at Youngstown, two in Belmont County, two in Canton, and one each in Dayton, Newark, New Philadelphia, Defiance and Geneva. Many prostrations were reported from all over the state.

TO HONOR FLYERS

WASHINGTON, July 2.—The White House announced today that Willie Post and Harold Gatty, the globe-circling flyers, will come here Monday to eat luncheon with President and Mrs. Hoover. The aviators will be accompanied by their wives, F. C. Hall, Oklahoma City, their financial backer, and his daughter, Mrs. Winnie Mae Hall Fain.

on the mound for the Jewelers with Jasper Ankeney tossing them over for the Merchants. Both Carey and Ankeney were hit harder than usual last Sunday as the Jewelers and Merchants each lost their games, and the rival pitching ace should be on their good behavior this week end.

The Wilmington nine will present the following lineup for the game: Carey, pitcher; Johnson, catcher; Denis, first base; Champlin, second base; Hargrave, third base; King, shortstop; Nowald, left field; J. Law, centerfield; Turner, right field; Beatty is the reserve pitcher and Seving the spare catcher.

N. Y. STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, July 2.—The public utility stocks and the favorite industrials were the leaders this morning in a moderate upturn in prices, patterned chiefly after the rally in the principal European markets. Trading on the big board dropped off to the lowest volume since the flare-up on the war-debt holiday start on June 20, with only 200,000 shares passing through in the first half hour. In the absence of definite new developments in domestic business and finance, Wall Street followed with particular interest the progress of monetary parleys at Paris.

How Reparations Payments to Allies Affect United States

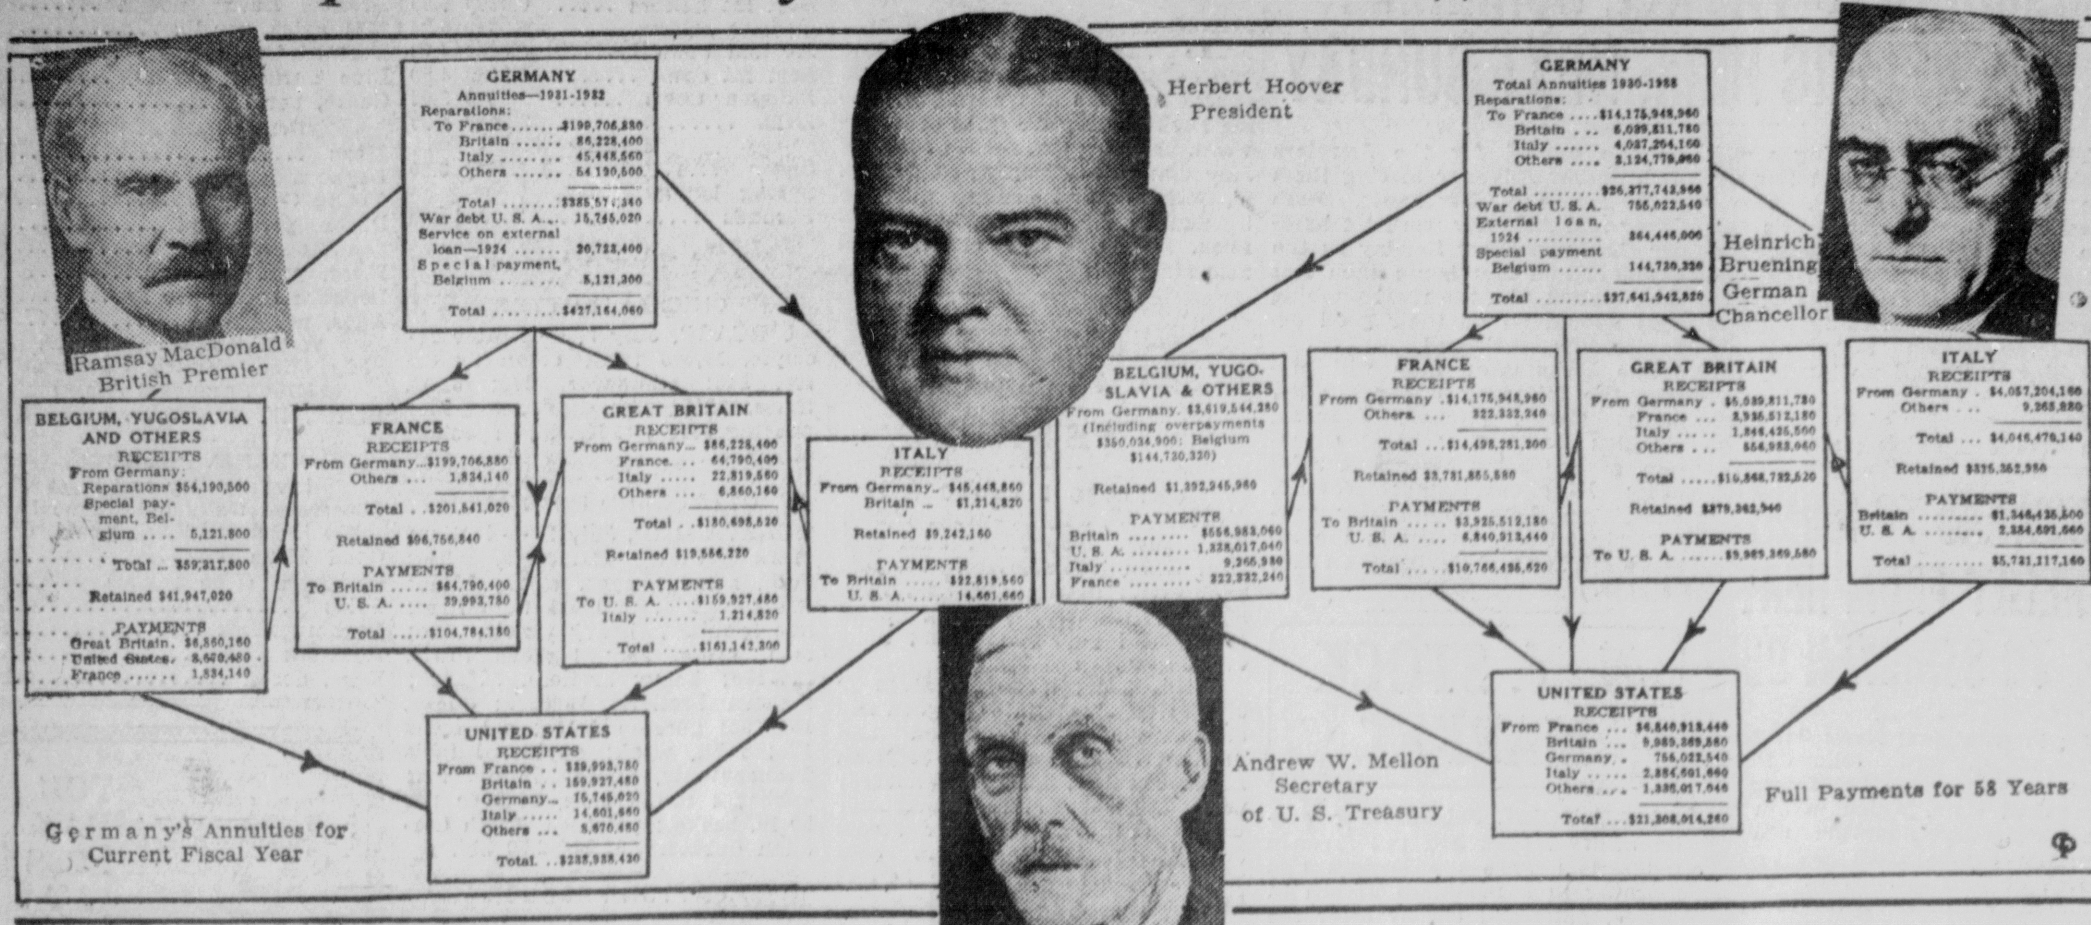

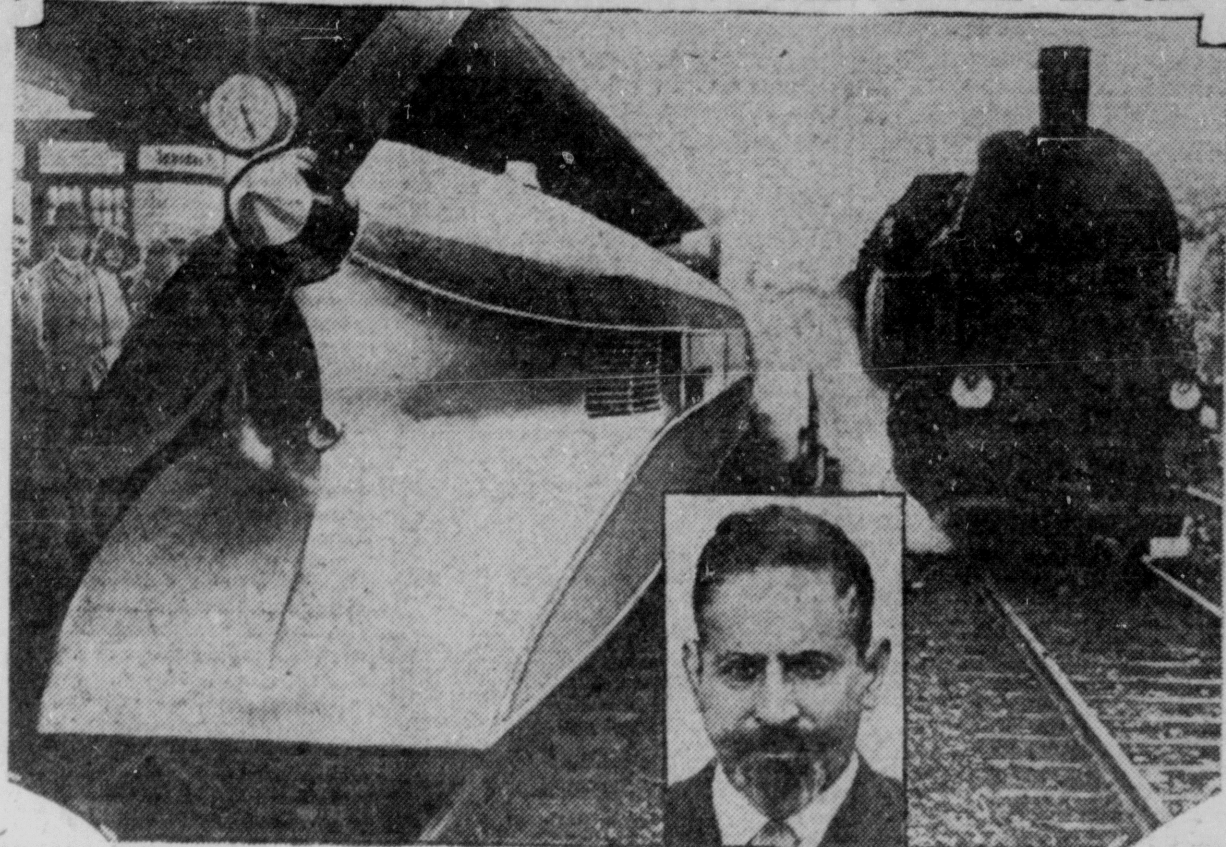

Diagram shows how reparations paid by Germany to the allies affect the United States. At left, receipts and outpayments of Germany's annuities for the current fiscal year are diagramed, and, at right, the full payments over Young plan's period of 58 years. Payments prior to 1930 are not included in the diagram. Leaders in the present debt settlement negotiations are inset. Secretary Mellon, abroad ostensibly for his son's graduation, had important financial discussions.

Train That Travels 109 Miles An Hour

Called the "Zeppelin on Wheels," the peculiarly shaped train shown above at left is the latest development in railroad speed and comfort. On its maiden trip from Berlin to Hamburg the bullet-like train averaged 109 miles an hour and at one time attained a speed of 130. It took only half the time on the run that is required by the regular train, the Fern-D, fastest express in Germany. On the right is the orthodox type of locomotive, which may soon join the one-horse shay in being just a memory. Inset is Dr. Krukenberg, designer of the novel speed train.

LEAVES BULL RING FOR CONVENT

South America bull fight enthusiasts are mourning the loss of Senorita Mya Hollar, above, most famous woman bull fighter, who has taken the vows and entered the convent of San Domingo, near Lima, Peru. Senorita Hollar has won the plaudits of all South America and amassed a considerable fortune, despite the fact that she never would kill a bull.

OTTO'S BETROTHAL IS RUMORED

Europe is stirred by the rumor of the betrothal of Archduke Otto, pretender to the throne of Austria, and the Princess Maria, youngest daughter of the King and Queen of Italy. His mother, the former Empress Zita, is understood to have asked Pope Pius for papal permission for the marriage and to have sought to enlist him in plans to place Otto on the throne of Austria. Both Otto and his reported fiancée are pictured above.

Tee Off On Marital Fairway

In a beautiful outdoor wedding ceremony, Glenna Collett, five times U. S. women's golf champion, and Edwin H. Vane, Jr., of Philadelphia, nephew of former Senator Vane of Pennsylvania, were started down the fairway of marital bliss at Greenwich, Conn., by the Rev. Frederick G. Budlong. The bride and groom are shown being united.

Like This, Granddaughter

Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heine, beloved "Mother" of the concert stage, is shown as she affectionately teaches her granddaughter some of the "tricks of the trade." The famous diva brought her granddaughter, Zella, from California to New York personally to train her for a theatrical career. Grandma shows the younger generation how to apply the lipstick.

SPONSOR OF FLOWER FESTIVAL

Tennessee's sponsor in the Rhododendron Festival, at Asheville, N. C., will be Miss Mary Evelyn Petree of Fountain City, Tenn., near Knoxville. She was chosen the most beautiful girl at the University of Tennessee this year.

Engaged! My Dear Watson

WATER QUEENS TO DEFEND TITLES

Gangway for "Porker Derby"

Pretty Josephine Driscoll of Pomona, Calif., made the worthy suggestion to her father, an official of the fair to be staged in her city, that a "porker derby" be staged for the enjoyment of all concerned. Dad, being practical-minded, had the counter suggestion that Josephine try out as a "porker jockey" herself to see how the stunt worked. And here's the result. But "Joe" had the last word in advocating cowboys instead of girls for the unique "derby."

Sails for Paris

Edna Ferber, one of America's most outstanding novelists, recently sailed for Paris where she will complete her latest book, "American Beauty," which will be published soon.

Langhorne Beauty to Wed

Remember when the Langhorne sisters of Virginia were the toast of America? You probably also recall that one married and became Lady Astor, another became Mrs. Charles Dana Gibson and now the third of this triumvirate of charm and beauty, divorced from Paul Phipps, is to marry Maurice Bennett "Lefty" Flynn, former Yale all-America football star and movie actor. The former Nora Langhorne is shown at left with Flynn at right.

Asbestos Flame Smothered

They were just married when this picture was snapped. And now, 34 days later, they're ready to separate. Thomas Manville, Jr., heir to the asbestos millions, and his bride of little more than a month, the former Avonnie Taylor, showgirl (above), have found that the safeguarding qualities ascribed to asbestos didn't have any effect on their marital bliss. Avonnie is simply "too high hat" to suit him, says Thomas.

On Bounding Main Channel Glider

Towed in his glider to a height of 9,000 feet and east drift, Robert Kronfeld, Austria's best-known pilot of the motorless plane, successfully negotiated a flight from the French coast to Dover, Eng., and return. This is the first occasion that the dangerous English Channel has been crossed by a glider. Kronfeld by his feat won a new paper prize of $5,000.

Graduate Of Today Has Great Future Says Governor Franklin Roosevelt

(EDITOR'S NOTE:—This is the only interview given by Governor Roosevelt since he has been so prominently mentioned for the Democratic presidential nomination. The governor carefully checked every phase of the manuscript.)

BY LESLIE P. EICHEL
Central Press Writer

ALBANY, N. Y., July 2.—It is no secret that thousands of graduates have gone out into the world this June only to face what seems to them a forbidding outlook. Many have expressed themselves as wishing for the supposedly better days of their fathers.

Probably no other man in America has been more sought after this year for graduation addresses than Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York. But he has not spoken, except at the model school sponsored by Owen D. Young at Van Hornesville, N. Y. As one of the strongest of presidential possibilities, Governor Roosevelt finds that silence is golden.

Still, the governor, a father, has something to say to young folk.

HOLDS HIGH HOPE

In an interview, given exclusively to Central Press, Governor Roosevelt, a man frank in his opinions, whether they be favorable or unfavorable, holds high hope for the graduates of today.

The governor does not gloss over the difficulties and injustices of the times.

"Is the world as bright today for young folk being graduated as it was 30 years ago?" Governor Roosevelt was asked.

"Brighter!" the governor responded with the vigor that is his. "The progress of the past 30 years will be overshadowed by the progress of the next 30 years."

BETTER LIFE VISIONED

"Great strides will be made in improving the conditions of life. There will be great social changes for the better. The troughs of depressions will be less as man gains more knowledge, as he meets and remedies conditions.

"The change for the better will begin with childhood. Children will be guided into the paths best suited for them. Science will save those now so handicapped as to lack usefulness.

"The health of the individual and his well-being will be of greater concern to the state. There will be universal application of some sort of unemployment insurance—not a dole, but a protection by society against economic disasters. And mothers' pensions will be widespread."

"But," the governor was asked, "can the social system be remedied except by young folk and women developing a larger interest in politics and economics? Is it not up to young folk to act?"

"Decidedly so. Unless those who are being graduated today, men and women alike, take an active interest in government and economics, there can be no change. It is to youth, to the girls as well as the boys, that we must look for the developments of the future."

"What have you advised your sons," the governor was asked, "as to the course they ought to pursue—to work for a change in the social system or to accept things as they are and permit a natural evolution (if that be possible)?"

"I have urged my sons to seek their own course, and, certainly, not to accept things as they are. Thus, by seeking change and betterment, there will be evolution, rather than revolution. For it is by evolution that we in America shall gain greater freedom."

TODAY'S OPPORTUNITY

"Governor," he was interrupted, for the graduate of today is a perplexed individual, "there is no gain-saying that the graduate has a stern, forbidding outlook on the surface. But is the storm not an opportunity to display courage and

HER COMPLEXION COMPLIMENTED

Mrs. Rardin praises Resinol

"I often wonder how many people know what a grand soap Resinol Soap is. I have been complimented on my complexion and it is due to Resinol Soap—nothing more. When my son came from the army his face and neck were badly broken out. After three different treatments failed to give good results I had him use Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap and the very first treatment helped him. I give it all the praise in the world." (Signed) Mrs. C. W. Rardin, Zanesville, Ohio.

You, too, can have a clear, smooth complexion by using Resinol Soap daily with a touch of Resinol Ointment to heal the occasional pimple. At your druggist. Free sample. Write Resinol, Dept. 97, Balto., Md.

to follow in the path of his father? Is there not a time when one must chart a different course? Is this the time?"

"One ought always to chart his own course. I do not believe in sons following in the path of their father. I have left my own sons free to travel their own course. One went to college and took a year in law. Another did not go to college, but into business. I did not interfere. They are charting their own course."

"You must think for itself. And out of this thought will come the evolution that will make this a better world."

BROTHER OF XENIAN CALLED BY DEATH

William R. Wones, 64, brother of J. T. Wones, farmer at the O. S. and S. O. Home in Xenia, died at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at his home in Rockford, Ill., following an illness of twelve years.

Mr. Wones, at one time associated with the Springfield Gas Co. when he lived in Springfield, O., is survived by his widow, Mary, and three brothers, J. T. Wones, Xenia, Charles R. Wones, superintendent of the Clark County Children's Home, and E. H. Wones, North Hampton, O.

The body will arrive in Springfield Thursday night and funeral services will be held at Littleton's funeral home at 3:30 p. m. Friday. Burial will be made in Ferncliff Cemetery.

XENIAN NAMED ON STATE COMMITTEE

Glenn F. McFadden, High St., has been appointed a member of the state executive committee of the Phi Delta Kappa fraternity and will serve as state sergeant-at-arms. He received notification of his appointment from Herbert Rhine, Newark, O., state president, this week.

Ohio is the first state in the United States to organize under the new state plan. Formerly the chapters were divided into zones under the national organization but this plan has been abolished and each state will elect officers. McFadden is a former president of Ohio Beta Beta Chapter of the fraternity here.

FREEDOM LOOMS FOR PRISONERS

Freedom for 2,350 convicts of Ohio penitentiary and the London prison farm looms with the disclosure that Ohio's new penal policy will be put into actual operation in September.

Three bills enacted by the Ohio legislature become effective in August, making it possible for 1,680 convicts of the penitentiary and 700 of the prison farm to appear before the parole board for their release.

Two prisoners sentenced from Greene County will be among the great number eligible for parole at the September meeting of the parole board.

WOUNDED MAN IS REMOVED TO HOME

Frank Leahy, Miami Ave., wounded in the right foot when Patrolman Edgar Carder fired on him at 3 a. m. Monday, is resting comfortably following an operation for removal of the bullet, performed at McClellan Hospital, The injured man has been removed to his mother's home, 14, N. Miami Ave.

The officer fired at Leahy when the man was reported to have ignored several commands to halt. The patrolman, in plain clothes, was not recognized as an officer by Leahy, who claimed he feared a hold-up and started to run. The shooting occurred near the Pennsylvania Railroad crossing on W. Second St.

If hard times continue, there is always Eddie Cantor's five-year plan for reconstruction. "It's very simple," says Eddie. "Let people buy everything they need for five years without paying. At the end of that time everybody moves. If you move far enough, they can't find you and by that time nobody will care anyway. I've also got a cure for unemployment. Just think! In baseball nowadays we have nine men on a side. I say let's have forty men on a side and twelve umpires. In prize fighting we find only two men in the ring with a single referee. What kind of employment is this. Let's have six in the ring and three referees. Furthermore, there should be six members in every quartet and four in every solo. It's an idea."

Meanwhile Eddie thinks he may retire and let his daughters support him. "My oldest daughter, Marjorie, is just graduating from high school," says the comedian. "She was guest dramatic editor on a Hollywood paper for a week. They offered her a job for the summer at $10 a week as a columnist. The salary of columnists must be going up."

That's an idea, too. But it doesn't seem to be gaining much headway. At the present rate, Paramount's "Road to Reno" will establish a record for cast changes. Carmen Barnes, who seems fated never to make a picture, was the first dropped. Peggy Shannon replaced her. Now Marjorie Rambeau is being borrowed from Metro to take the part intended for Lilyan Tashman. It's a mixup.

Thanks to the lull at Warners, Metro is able to obtain Joan Blondell to play one of the two feminine leads in Jack Gilbert's new film, "West of Broadway." In this story Jack plays a young man who is told he has only a short time to live. When his sweetheart throws him over, he takes to drink and goes through a spite marriage with

Old Forts, Like Custer, Must Face 'Last Stand'

Former Bulwarks of Strength for Pioneers of Far West Are Trampled Underfoot by March of Progress

MRS. GEORGE A. CUSTER
Trampled underfoot by the inevitable march of progress, the old forts and military bases of the United States Army in the West are to be abandoned in the interest of economy—their days of usefulness over. Rich in historical lore, these old forts once stood as bulwarks of strength for bewildered pioneers, harassed and slaughtered by marauding Indians as they strove to carve a new empire in the West. One of the most tragic incidents connected with the old forts whose doom has been sounded was the massacre, one blistering day in 1876, of a detachment of troops under General George A. Custer, noted Civil War fighter, in the Battle of the Little Big Horn. Custer and all his men were slain, after a gallant "Last Stand," by Sioux and Santee Indians led by Chief Sitting Bull. Mrs. Custer, widow of the general, now residing in New York, has voiced a protest that the old forts, so closely linked with the progress of the nation, are to fall before the very element which they helped preserve.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—As in time immemorial, the inevitable march of civilization has trampled to death the very agencies which were born in another era to protect the progress so painstakingly made in pioneering the great Western plains and mountains of America.

Established to safeguard the white man's civilization of another day, now long past, old forts and military bases of the United States Army, grown ramshackle and tumble-down from years of practical disuse, are to be abandoned in the interest of economy.

No longer will once stout walls hear the snap and crackle of military orders, gone will be the soldierly uniformed in several generations of American Army styles and colors, the grass on the sweeping parade grounds will be free to grow high and unkempt without subjugation under the measured tread of marching legions. In short, naught but the ghosts of departed heroes of the Indian wars and tragedies of America's frontier ever pushed westward, will stalk one terrible day at Little Big Horn, Montana.

"Custer's Last Stand" forms a trio of words known by every American. General Custer, Union officer during the Civil War, was sent into the West following Lee's surrender to supply military protection to pioneers trekking toward new and fertile lands. Indian war parties were continually harassing and attacking trains of covered wagons, isolating small groups of settlers and slaughtering them and generally proving a menace to the progress of civilization. While General Custer was but one of many officers dispatched to the troubled area, the Battle of the Little Big Horn gave him undying fame.

Attacked by an overpowering force of Sioux and Santee Indians, led by Chief Sitting Bull, Custer and his men fought a losing fight until the general and all but a mere handful of his troops were massacred. This bloody tragedy, occurring one fateful, blistering day in 1876, set the nation aflame and resulted in extended campaigns against the Indians and the building of more forts to withstand their attacks.

It is many of these old rich-historical-lore fortresses that are to be abandoned by the War Department now that the demands of economy are much more pressing than attacks. It is these self-same forts which bring tears to the eyes of Mrs. Custer as she sits in her Park Ave. apartment in New York, surrounded by hurrying, maddening crowds instead of war-shrieking Redskins, and dreams of the days that are gone.

"It does seem as if some of the old forts ought to be saved," Mrs. Custer said when interviewed recently on the fifty-fifth anniversary of her brave husband's last engagement. "We ought not to allow every vestige of that period to die. After all, this country has very little history, considering how big it is, and we should preserve what we have."

Beautiful sentiments, but apparently impractical ones in the eyes of official Washington. Still, progress and all it brings must be served. Leaving the forts stand and rot away, of no value to anyone, would correspond in a sense with what might have been charged, a half century and more ago, against Americans, smug and secure in the East, had they not been determined to leap the barriers set up by a savage frontier and establish a new land of promise.

The old order changeth and with it the old forts must go.

SHOW 20,126 HAVE BECOME CITIZENS

YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 2.—Naturalization records of Mahoning County show that since the first naturalization in 1846, a total of 20,126 aliens have been granted citizenship papers here.

The naturalized persons came from all parts of the globe, according to the statistics which were prepared recently for the board of elections. They belong to 121 known races, countries and small islands.

Italians represent nearly 20 per cent of those naturalized, with 4,083 papers having been issued to natives of that country. Ireland is second with 2,101.

BLAME DEPRESSION FOR FEWER UNIONS

CANTON, O., July 2.—The general business depression was blamed for the decrease in the number of marriages in Stark County during 1930 as compared with 1929. Figures compiled by the bureau of census showed that 1,635 couples were married in 1929 and 1,344 in 1930, a decrease of 291.

No reason was given for the drop in the number of divorces for the same period. Divorces in 1929 totaled 490 and 469 in 1930.

The Big Swing is to U. S.

EVERY month a greater percentage of all tires sold carry the "U. S." trade-mark. Every day more car owners are finding in "U. S." tires a definitely better value in safety, wear, and beauty.

Under certain driving conditions, the heat inside your tires would boil water. And heat rots rubber. So the fight for tire wear and tire mileage is largely a fight against heat.

But this is only one of your problems in getting long life from your tires. For today's tires must withstand flexing, bumping, the grind of quick stops, the rasp of quick starts and quick acceleration, and long fast driving which piles up mileage as never before.
